MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION OF FUND PERFORMANCE

Results of Operations from January 1, 2021 to June 30, 2021

Markets & Effect

The upward bounce in interest rates at the start of 2021 led to negative total returns across most fixed-income asset classes. Interest rates remain historically low while inflation has begun to pick up steam. Some of the key factors behind rising inflation are continued unprecedented accommodative monetary and fiscal policy, pandemic-related supply chain bottlenecks, increasing commodity price pressures and U.S. savings rate near a 60-year high, indicating strong pent-up demand.

The U.S. federal government has been setting spending records. The last few years through the end of 2020 have witnessed the largest peacetime expansion in federal spending in nearly 100 years. Many observers inside and outside of government believe that with interest rates so low, debt levels do not matter. There was a similar narrative in the 1940s around the WWII debt buildup and the launch of new entitlement programs in the 1960s. In both periods, however, low inflation and interest rates proved temporary and eventually adjusted upwards.

The second quarter of 2021 felt a bit like the 1970s. There were Middle East tensions, lines at gas stations in many places within the United States, and inflation numbers that we have not seen for quite some time. The U.S. Federal Reserve's narrative is that the higher inflation the market experienced in the second quarter was expected, but temporary. With the 10-year U.S. Treasury yield below 1.50%, the market appears to have placed complete faith in the Federal Reserve managing inflation to its target level. As the U.S. economy continues to reopen, recent employment reports have shown an increase in retail and service sector jobs. This shift generally would lead to a decrease in the average hourly earnings as many of these jobs are lower-paying positions. However, this has not been the case recently, as average hourly earnings have continued to tick higher. The competition for labour appears to be fierce, potentially signaling further inflation going forward.

Performance

The Fund's Unhedged Series A units outperformed its benchmark, losing 1.8% versus a loss of 3.3% for the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Intermediate Credit Index (the "Index"). The Fund's Hedged Series A units also outperformed its benchmark, gaining 1.0% versus a loss of 0.6% for the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Intermediate Credit Index (Hedged) (the "Index").

The Fund returns are after the deduction of fees and expenses while the benchmark returns do not include any costs of investing. See the "Past Performance" section for the returns of the other series, which may vary because of differences in management fees and expenses or timing of series introduction.

Asset Mix

At June 30, 2021, the Fund consisted of 21.2% in U.S. Dollar denominated government fixed income securities, 66.9% in U.S. Dollar denominated corporate fixed income securities, and approximately 11.9% in cash and other net assets.

The securities holdings in the Fund had an average credit rating of A2 by Moody's at June 30, 2021, unchanged from December 31, 2020. The Fund's duration increased to 3.45 years at June 30, 2021 from 3.25 years at December 31, 2020.

In line with its "bottom-up" investment philosophy, Brandes LP continues to build the portfolio on a security-by-security basis, as opposed to top-down.

Typically less than 5% of the Fund is allocated to any one security, at the time of purchase. Therefore, the addition or deletion of an individual security will generally not constitute a substantial change to the portfolio.

The Manager confirms that the Fund did not borrow money during the period.

Flows & Fees

The Fund's Net Asset Value increased to $49.9 million at June 30, 2021, from $48.4 at December 31, 2020. Of this change, an increase of $0.1 million was due to positive investment performance (net of investment income), and an increase of $1.4 million was due to net inflows.

For Series A units, the annualized management expense ratio ("MER") at June 30, 2021 is 1.53%, unchanged from December 31, 2020, for the Unhedged series. The annualized MER for the Hedged series is 1.58% at June 30, 2021, unchanged from December 31, 2020.

Recent Developments

There are no known changes at this time to the strategic positioning of the Fund, the manager, or portfolio sub-advisor.

As noted in the simplified prospectus, this Fund is subject to large transaction risk because it has security holders who individually own more than 10% of the Fund. In order to reduce the impact of this risk to security holders, Bridgehouse asks, but does not require, large investors to provide notice when significant redemptions are being contemplated.

The outbreak of the novel coronavirus, first detected in December 2019, rapidly became a pandemic and resulted in disruptions to the economies of many nations, individual companies and the markets in general. This created closed borders, quarantines, supply chain disruptions and general anxiety, which negatively impacted global markets in an unforeseeable manner. The impact of the novel coronavirus and other such future infectious diseases in certain regions or countries may be greater or less due to the nature or level of their public health responses or due to other factors. Health crises caused by the coronavirus outbreak or future infectious diseases may exacerbate other pre-existing political, social and economic risks in certain countries. The impact of such health crises may be quick, severe and of unknowable duration. This pandemic and other epidemics and pandemics that may arise in the future could result in continued volatility in the financial markets and lead to increased levels of Fund redemptions, which could have a negative impact on the Funds and could adversely affect a Fund's performance.

Related Party Transactions

Manager and Portfolio Sub-Advisor

- The financial information presented in the Ratios and Supplemental Data table is derived from the Fund's Net Asset Value and is provided as at December 31 of the years shown.
- The management expense ratio ("MER") is calculated as the total management fees and operating expenses paid by each series of the Fund, including GST/HST and interest and excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs, and is expressed as a percentage of the average daily Net Asset Value of each series of the Fund on an annualized basis. Any management fee distributions paid by a series of the fund that effectively reduced management fees payable by some unitholders are not deducted from expenses to determine the overall MER of that series. The Manager, at its sole discretion, waives management fees or absorbs expenses. Such waivers and absorptions can be terminated at any time. The MERs of the Fund are shown both with and without the waiver and absorptions.
- Portfolio turnover rate is calculated at the Fund level based on the lesser of purchases or proceeds of sales of securities for the period, excluding cash, short term notes and bonds having maturity dates at acquisition of one year or less, divided by the average value of the portfolio securities for the period. The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a Fund.
- The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average Net Asset Value of the Fund. The trading expense ratio is calculated at the Fund level and applies to all series of the Fund.

Keep in mind that past performance does not necessarily indicate how the Fund will perform in the future.
