MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION OF FUND PERFORMANCE

Results of Operations from January 1, 2021 to June 30, 2021

Markets & Effect

After a dramatic 2020, we have seen the green shoots of “reflation”, with several significant developments co-existing. The major market influences are a) inflation expectations are higher with central banks, for now, willing to let prices rise, b) economic growth forecasts increasing following solid vaccine progress, c) company reporting broadly exceeding expectations, d) geopolitical tensions and systemic risks softening, and e) investors conditioned by strong returns through good news and bad.

Among equities, the corners of the markets that had been hot — in some cases for years — turned cold. In fact, we saw a remarkable change with the recent strength in value stocks, which have been lagging significantly in recent years. Smaller companies more likely to have their fortunes tied to the strength of the economy were among the best performers.

Domestic stocks, as represented by the S&P/TSX Composite Index, posted a strong return of 17.3% in the first half of the year. Small cap stocks continued to run ahead of the broader market, with the S&P/TSX Small Cap Index up 19.8% over the same time period. There have now been five consecutive quarters of gains in the Canadian market after the pandemic hammered the market in the first quarter of 2020.

In the bond market, dormant expectations for inflation began to emerge. The yield curve steepened from the start of the year on expectations for stronger economic growth. For example, the 10-year government bond yield in Canada rose from 0.67% at the end of December 2020 to 1.39% at the end of June 2021.

The outlook for the Canadian economy and many developed economies has improved; with increased vaccination rates, we appear to be turning the corner with the pandemic. Canadian business sentiment is improving as demand continues to grow and people can return to work safely. As businesses continue to ramp up production and provide services again, there remains some concern that demand for goods will outpace supply creating temporary, above target, inflation. The Bank of Canada expects inflation will return to its target 2% later in 2022 after a period where it will be sitting above its target. However, there remain many variables built into the Bank of Canada's expectations given the pandemic's toll, not only to the Canadian economy, but also on developing economies where vaccination rates are for the most part, currently much lower than our own.

In the U.S., legislators continue to work on a bipartisan infrastructure plan expected to amount to approximately $1 trillion. The plan is focused on making improvements to U.S. broadband infrastructure, education, roads, bridges, railways, airports, electric vehicles, and water infrastructure. Morningstar expects that this increased fiscal spending and additional spending favoured by other plans under development will not only improve the growth outlook for the U.S. economy, but also for the Canadian and global economy more broadly.

Performance

The Fund's Series A units outperformed its benchmark, losing 0.4% versus a loss of 0.9% for the Morningstar Conservative Benchmark (the “Blended Benchmark”).

The Fund returns are after the deduction of fees and expenses while the benchmark returns do not include any costs of investing. See the “Past Performance” section for the returns of the other series, which may vary because of differences in management fees and expenses or timing of series introduction.

Asset Mix

At June 30, 2021, equity and fixed income funds and ETFs made up 95.4% of the Fund, and approximately 4.6% was in cash and other net assets.

The Manager confirms that the Fund did not borrow money during the period.

Flows & Fees

The Fund's Net Asset Value increased to $23.0 million at June 30, 2021, from $17.5 million at December 31, 2020. This was the result of an increase of $5.5 million was due to net inflows.

For Series A units, the annualized management expense ratio ("MER") at June 30, 2021 is 1.81%, unchanged from December 31, 2020.

Recent Developments

There are no known changes at this time to the strategic positioning of the Fund, the manager, or portfolio sub-advisor.

The outbreak of the novel coronavirus, first detected in December 2019, rapidly became a pandemic and resulted in disruptions to the economies of many nations, individual companies and the markets in general. This created closed borders, quarantines, supply chain disruptions and general anxiety, which negatively impacted global markets in an unforeseeable manner. The impact of the novel coronavirus and other such future infectious diseases in certain regions or countries may be greater or less due to the nature or level of their public health responses or due to other factors. Health crises caused by the coronavirus outbreak or future infectious diseases may exacerbate other pre-existing political, social and economic risks in certain countries. The impact of such health crises may be quick, severe and of unknowable duration. This pandemic and other epidemics and pandemics that may arise in the future could result in continued volatility in the financial markets and lead to increased levels of Fund redemptions, which could have a negative impact on the Funds and could adversely affect a Fund's performance.

- The financial information presented in the Ratios and Supplemental Data table is derived from the Fund's Net Asset Value and is provided as at December 31 of the years shown.
- The management expense ratio ("MER") is calculated as the total management fees and operating expenses paid by each series of the Fund, including GST/HST and interest and excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs, and the Portfolio's proportionate share of the MER, if applicable, of the Underlying Funds and Exchange Traded Funds in which the Portfolio has invested, allocated to that Series, and is expressed as a percentage of the average daily Net Asset Value of each series of the Fund on an annualized basis. Any management fee distributions paid by a series of the fund that effectively reduced management fees payable by some unitholders are not deducted from expenses to determine the overall MER of that series. The Manager, at its sole discretion, waives management fees or absorbs expenses. Such waivers and absorptions can be terminated at any time. The MERs of the Fund are shown both with and without the waiver and absorptions.
- Portfolio turnover rate is calculated at the Fund level based on the lesser of purchases or proceeds of sales of securities for the period, excluding cash, short term notes and bonds having maturity dates at acquisition of one year or less, divided by the average value of the portfolio securities for the period. The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a Fund.
- The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs, including the Portfolio's proportionate share of the commissions, if applicable, of the Underlying Funds and Exchange Traded Funds in which the Portfolio has invested, expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average Net Asset Value of the Fund. The trading expense ratio is calculated at the Fund level and applies to all series of the Fund.
