MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION OF FUND PERFORMANCE

Results of Operations from January 1, 2021 to June 30, 2021

Markets & Effect

The S&P/TSX Composite Index gained 17.3% in the first half of the year. Seven of the Index's eleven sectors posted double-digit returns as markets continued to price in increased economic activity, hopes for a more robust and permanent re-opening of the economy and the potential for higher inflation. The energy sector climbed 37.0%, largely driven by the rally in the price of crude oil. The "Big Five" Canadian banks were once again the driver of the performance of the financial sector as the overall economic outlook and Canada's re-opening has continued to progress. The Consumer Price Index (CPI) has been in the range of 3-4% in recent months, well above the historic 1-2% targeted inflation rate. This has been driven by increased raw material costs due to commodity price inflation, increased freight costs, higher wage inflation and unprecedented monetary ease.

Just three months ago, Canada was a global laggard in the COVID-19 vaccine roll-out, with just 9.2% of the population having received their first dose. Since the end of the first quarter, Canada has been highly effective in accessing vaccine supply and building out a robust distribution system, which has resulted in 76.9% of the eligible population receiving their first dose and 30.0% of eligible recipients becoming fully vaccinated.

The ongoing progress made on the vaccine roll-out has reduced the spread of COVID-19 and given a new sense of hope that we are just around the corner from a return to normal – something that consumers and small businesses are certainly looking forward to.

Performance

The Fund's Series A units trailed its benchmark, gaining 14.0% versus a gain of 17.3% for the S&P/TSX Composite Index (the "Index").

The Fund returns are after the deduction of fees and expenses while the benchmark returns do not include any costs of investing. See the "Past Performance" section for the returns of the other series, which may vary because of differences in management fees and expenses or timing of series introduction.

Holdings in metals & mining made a positive contribution to overall performance, while holdings in IT services detracted from performance for the period.

Asset Mix

Over the recent reporting period, the Fund's asset mix did not change significantly. At June 30, 2021, Canadian equities made up 97.8% of the Fund and approximately 2.2% was in cash and other net assets.

The Fund's exposure to various industries shifted due to stock-specific buying and selling activity, as well as to changes in the prices of holdings. The most significant industry exposure change was an increase in holdings in software to 2.9% from nil at December 31, 2020.

The Manager confirms that the Fund did not borrow money during the period.

Flows & Fees

The Fund's Net Asset Value increased to $245.7 million at June 30, 2021, from $232.9 million at December 31, 2020. Of this change, an increase of $32.0 million was due to positive investment performance (net of investment income), and a decrease of $19.2 million was due to net outflows.

For Series A units, the annualized management expense ratio ("MER") at June 30, 2021 is 2.26%, unchanged from December 31, 2020.

Recent Developments

There are no known changes at this time to the strategic positioning of the Fund, the manager, or portfolio sub-advisor.

The outbreak of the novel coronavirus, first detected in December 2019, rapidly became a pandemic and resulted in disruptions to the economies of many nations, individual companies and the markets in general. This created closed borders, quarantines, supply chain disruptions and general anxiety, which negatively impacted global markets in an unforeseeable manner. The impact of the novel coronavirus and other such future infectious diseases in certain regions or countries may be greater or less due to the nature or level of their public health responses or due to other factors. Health crises caused by the coronavirus outbreak or future infectious diseases may exacerbate other pre-existing political, social and economic risks in certain countries. The impact of such health crises may be quick, severe and of unknowable duration. This pandemic and other epidemics and pandemics that may arise in the future could result in continued volatility in the financial markets and lead to increased levels of Fund redemptions, which could have a negative impact on the Funds and could adversely affect a Fund's performance.

- The financial information presented in the Ratios and Supplemental Data table is derived from the Fund's Net Asset Value and is provided as at December 31 of the years shown.
- The management expense ratio ("MER") is calculated as the total management fees and operating expenses paid by each series of the Fund, including GST/HST and interest and excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs, and is expressed as a percentage of the average daily Net Asset Value of each series of the Fund on an annualized basis. Any management fee distributions paid by a series of the fund that effectively reduced management fees payable by some unitholders are not deducted from expenses to determine the overall MER of that series. The Manager, at its sole discretion, waives management fees or absorbs expenses. Such waivers and absorptions can be terminated at any time. The MERs of the Fund are shown both with and without the waiver and absorptions.
- Portfolio turnover rate is calculated at the Fund level based on the lesser of purchases or proceeds of sales of securities for the period, excluding cash, short term notes and bonds having maturity dates at acquisition of one year or less, divided by the average value of the portfolio securities for the period. The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a Fund.
- The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average Net Asset Value of the Fund. The trading expense ratio is calculated at the Fund level and applies to all series of the Fund.
