MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION OF FUND PERFORMANCE

Investment Objective and Strategies

The objective of the Fund is to achieve long-term capital growth by investing primarily in a diverse mix of other mutual funds and exchange traded funds that hold Canadian and global equity and fixed-income securities.

The Fund may also invest directly in pooled funds (subject to regulatory exemptive relief).

Morningstar Associates, Inc. ("Morningstar") uses a disciplined process to actively manage the Fund's asset mix and investments with a range of exposure from 5% to 35% in defensive assets such as fixed income and cash and from 65% to 95% exposure to growth assets such as equities.

Risk

As an investor in this Fund, you should be prepared for short-term performance fluctuations, and be a patient, long-term holder.

There were no significant changes to the level or type of risk you would expect from the Fund over the course of the year. It continues to have a medium risk level. Refer to the Fund's simplified prospectus for a complete list of all risks.

Results of Operations from January 1, 2021 to December 31, 2021

Markets & Effect

Overall, 2021 will be remembered as a great year for growth investors but a difficult year for defensive investors. In the first half of the year, economic reopenings and coronavirus vaccinations drove a rally in value-oriented stocks. Many companies that had been decimated by the pandemic, such as travel companies, began to bounce back, and industrial and materials stocks had strong showings in the first half of the year. Developed-markets financials, energy, and consumer discretionary stocks all increased as confidence in the economic recovery grew, but emerging-markets stocks didn't keep up in those sectors.

The second half of the year was a different story, as inflationary pressures, the prospect of tightening monetary conditions, and the resurgent pandemic threw cold water on the rally, especially in emerging markets. Developed-market equities continued to rise but saw greater volatility as the year came to a close.

Canadian stocks, as represented by the S&P/TSX Composite Index, had a strong year, gaining 25.1%. Energy stocks led the way, with the sector up 48.9% for the period. Energy prices, and non-energy commodity prices to a lesser extent, continued to add to inflationary pressures. Given the government has seen a measure of growth in the economy as people return to work, COVID-19 related government relief programs, such as the Canada Emergency Response Benefit (CERB), are no longer available and the consensus for the initiation of Bank of Canada interest rate increases seems to be in the first half of 2022.

The S&P 500 Index rocketed ahead 27.6% in 2021. The U.S. economy is expecting large increases in growth: over 5% in 2021 to be followed by further expected 4-5% growth in 2022. Supply shortages are pushing prices higher, and they'll likely remain higher until raw materials become more available, likely some time into 2022. U.S. unemployment sits at 3.9% in the latest reading and there is likely to be additional wage pressure given the current labour shortages.

International markets, as represented by the MSCI EAFE Index, gained 10.3%, with Europe including the U.K. enjoying double-digit returns in 2021. Global economic growth appears to be improving due to the rollout of the vaccine and economic policies that have helped to stimulate the global economy.

Emerging-market equities were among the biggest laggards, losing -3.4% for the year, heavily influenced by developments in China. Emerging-market debt also struggled, given rising inflation and interest-rate hikes in many emerging economies.

In fixed income, broad domestic indices delivered negative returns in 2021, with the FTSE Canada Universe Bond Index declining -2.5% and the FTSE Canada Short Term Bond Index down -0.9% for the year. Returns in global fixed income were also negative, with the FTSE World Government Bond Index dropping -7.8% for the year. Inflation-protected bonds were an obvious beneficiary from higher inflation in 2021.

Omicron, inflation, and higher interest rates top the list of investor concerns, while stretched valuations would hint at a narrowed opportunity set. It is important to remember that the future holds a wide range of possible outcomes: Morningstar's approach is to view the future probabilistically and think long term.

Performance

The Fund's Series A units trailed its benchmark, gaining 9.9% versus a gain of 14.8% for the Morningstar Growth Benchmark (the "Blended Benchmark").

The Fund returns are after the deduction of fees and expenses while the benchmark returns do not include any costs of investing. See the "Past Performance" section for the returns of the other series, which may vary because of differences in management fees and expenses or timing of series introduction.

Asset Mix

At December 31, 2021, equity and fixed income funds and ETFs made up 97.7% of the Fund, and approximately 2.3% was in cash and other net assets.

The Manager confirms that the Fund did not borrow money during the period.

Flows & Fees

The Fund's Net Asset Value increased to $25.1 million at December 31, 2021, from $23.3 million at December 31, 2020. Of this change, an increase of $2.4 million was due to positive investment performance (net of investment income), and a decrease of $0.6 million was due to net outflows.

For Series A units, the annualized management expense ratio ("MER") at December 31, 2021 is 2.36%, compared to 2.33% at December 31, 2020.

Recent Developments

There are no known changes at this time to the strategic positioning of the Fund, the manager, or portfolio sub-advisor.

The invasion of Ukraine by Russia on February 24, 2022 has resulted in western economic sanctions being imposed on Russia, notably barring Russian banks from the SWIFT financial messaging system, a key piece of banking infrastructure. In response to sanctions, Russian markets have been closed to all foreign investors. This has caused material volatility in Russian financial markets and impacted liquidity, market access and reliability of security prices. In addition, export embargoes may lead to increased volatility in commodity prices and global supply chain disruptions. It is uncertain how long the conflict, economic sanctions and market instability will continue and whether they will escalate further. The Fund manager and portfolio sub-advisor(s) continue to actively monitor the situation for any impacts on the Fund's existing as well as potential new holdings.

On March 4, 2022, Bridgehouse announced an update to its high-net-worth pricing to include total investments of $250,000 and greater for the Morningstar Balanced Portfolio, Morningstar Conservative Portfolio, Morningstar Growth Portfolio, and Morningstar Moderate Portfolio (collectively, the "Morningstar Funds"). Effective March 4, 2022, eligible investors in Series A and Series F of the Morningstar Funds will receive management fee distributions of 0.15% for total investments of $250,000 to $499,999, and management fee distributions of 0.20% for total investments of over $500,000.

Effective on or before April 22, 2022, Bridgehouse will no longer pay trailing commissions to dealers that do not make a suitability determination, such as order-execution-only ("OEO") dealers, in accordance with the Canadian Securities Administrators' decision to end the payment of trailing commissions to OEO dealers that comes into effect on June 1, 2022. Accounts held at OEO dealers will only be permitted to purchase or hold securities of Series F of the Fund, which does not pay a trailing commission.

On March 16, 2022, Bridgehouse announced that effective at the close of business on or about April 22, 2022, all Series A units of the Fund held in accounts at OEO dealers will be switched into Series F at no cost to the unitholder and without a disposition for tax purposes.

The outbreak of the novel coronavirus, first detected in December 2019, rapidly became a pandemic and resulted in disruptions to the economies of many nations, individual companies and the markets in general. This created closed borders, quarantines, supply chain disruptions and general anxiety, which negatively impacted global markets in an unforeseeable manner. The impact of the novel coronavirus and other such future infectious diseases in certain regions or countries may be greater or less due to the nature or level of their public health responses or due to other factors. Health crises caused by the coronavirus outbreak or future infectious diseases may exacerbate other pre-existing political, social and economic risks in certain countries. The impact of such health crises may be quick, severe and of unknowable duration. This pandemic and other epidemics and pandemics that may arise in the future could result in continued volatility in the financial markets and lead to increased levels of Fund redemptions, which could have a negative impact on the Funds and could adversely affect a Fund's performance.

- The financial information presented in the Ratios and Supplemental Data table is derived from the Fund's Net Asset Value and is provided as at December 31 of the years shown.
- The management expense ratio ("MER") is calculated as the total management fees and operating expenses paid by each series of the Fund, including GST/HST and interest and excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs, and the Portfolio's proportionate share of the MER, if applicable, of the Underlying Funds and Exchange Traded Funds in which the Portfolio has invested, allocated to that Series, and is expressed as a percentage of the average daily Net Asset Value of each series of the Fund on an annualized basis. Any management fee distributions paid by a series of the fund that effectively reduced management fees payable by some unitholders are not deducted from expenses to determine the overall MER of that series. The Manager, at its sole discretion, waives management fees or absorbs expenses. Such waivers and absorptions can be terminated at any time. The MERs of the Fund are shown both with and without the waiver and absorptions.
- Portfolio turnover rate is calculated at the Fund level based on the lesser of purchases or proceeds of sales of securities for the period, excluding cash, short term notes and bonds having maturity dates at acquisition of one year or less, divided by the average value of the portfolio securities for the period. The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a Fund.
- The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs, including the Portfolio's proportionate share of the commissions, if applicable, of the Underlying Funds and Exchange Traded Funds in which the Portfolio has invested, expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average Net Asset Value of the Fund. The trading expense ratio is calculated at the Fund level and applies to all series of the Fund.

For new Funds or Series the amount presented may not be indicative of longer term operating periods.
